Council Continues to Insist Upon Conditions For Plant

Greenbriar issues took up most of a diminished city council's time during the second half of a lengthy special meeting, Tuesday, August 21. Only councilwoman Rhea Cohen, councilman Charles Schwan, who acted as Mayor, and councilman Gil Weidenfeld remained to grapple with this seemingly ever-present problem.

Councilwoman Cohen led things off when she took up a motion which had been tabled at the previous council meeting and requested that she be permitted to break it into two parts: 1) that the city council write to the Environmental Protection Agency urging that EPA hold a public hearing in or about Greenbelt on the issuance of a permit for Greenbriar to construct a temporary sewage treatment plant, and 2) that the city manager be directed to write a letter to the EPA Regional Office requesting that an environmental impact study be prepared on the application for the Greenbriar temporary sewage treatment plant. Schwan and Weidenfeld went along, with Schwan seconding the motion.

Mrs. Cohen stated that it was her certain knowledge that the EPA was, in fact, reviewing the application although that agency had not notified the City of Greenbelt, and that she thought this would be a good way of letting them know that Greenbelt had concerns and should be considered in the review process. Weidenfeld wondered why, with two federal agencies — EPA and NASA — involved, they couldn't somehow combine their efforts. He felt there might be a great deal of confusion resulting otherwise.

Thomas White read a lengthy statement referring to all of the pending actions regarding Greenbriar, in effect a chronology of actions regarding the matter over the past two years, and that the city council's actions during that period "were less than satisfactory." He suggested that council — all members but Mrs. Cohen — had been unresponsive to citizens, had "feigned lack of expertise and deferred actions to the county," and ended up by suggesting that "the premature denuding of the tract can be laid at the council's doorstep."

Richard Schifter, attorney for Alan Kay, the Greenbriar developer, stated that they had no objection to the request for a public hearing but stated that they would take the position that there was no legal requirement for an environmental impact study. He was concerned about the delay that would ensue from such an action, and felt that all of the facts would be revealed during a hearing. He stated that the National Environmental Protection Act was quite different from the 1972 Water Quality Amendments — that an environmental impact study for the former was simply a means of informing citizens, which he felt was unnecessary. "I can't imagine, with the News Review coverage of this whole matter, a single Greenbelt citizen not being informed about this," he said. Despite his plea, however, council voted 3-0 for both parts of the motion.

Ten-Year Water Plan

Following a similar vein of discussion council also voted 3-0 to request a modification of the Ten-Year Water and Sewer Plan, as it related to the temporary sewage treatment plant, by deleting all references to the Glen Ora development as well as to include a point of discharge on the map which would conform to the present proposals. Also, despite a plea by Schifter that the developer was building the plant at his own risk and that it couldn't be operated without the necessary clearances, as well as a warning by the city solicitor, Emmett Nanna, that such action might imperil a previous agreement between the city and Kay regarding money for purchasing open space, the council voted 3-0 to request the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission to rescind or suspend permits to Greenbriar until NASA grants an easement for the sewage plant outflow line. They also turned down a request by Schifter to reconsider the latter action and simply tie it to state approval.

On a ruling by Schwan that the matter was germane to the special meeting topics, council also voted 3-0 to approve a motion by Weidenfeld to write a letter to Dr. Fletcher of NASA to inform him that the letter received from Mayor Richard Pilski on city stationery only represented Pilski's personal opinions and did not reflect the views of council.

Aid Fund Established For Joseph Roland

Ten-year old Joseph Roland of 2-B Plateau Place has been hospitalized at Prince Georges General for the past three weeks, where he underwent exploratory surgery. His condition is described as serious. Young Joseph faces an indefinite period of further hospitalization and the prospects of extensive radiology treatments.

To help allay the enormous medical and hospital costs which have already been incurred, and which are certain to skyrocket in the weeks to come, the Joseph Roland Hospital Fund has been established at the Greenbelt Federal Credit Union, located in the original Greenbelt Shopping Center next to the Co-op Supermarket.

Friends and neighbors of the Roland family as well as other interested Greenbelters are urged to drop by the Credit Union with a contribution to Joe's Hospital Fund, or mail a check in care of the Greenbelt Federal Credit Union at 121 Centerway.

Joseph has expressed his appreciation for all the cards he has received from the many kids and grownups who have wished him well.

Burcham Endorsed by CCS

Dolores Burcham has been endorsed by the Citizens for Community Schools for the newly created school board position from the 2nd District (which encompasses Greenbelt). In making the endorsement, CCS said that it recognized that more than one candidate in the district appeared to share its views on the county school system.

The individual endorsed, CCS said, represents in its view the best candidate suited to provide cohesive leadership.

MULTITUDE OF EVENTS PLANNED FOR GALA LABOR DAY FESTIVAL

"Unity through Community Involvement" is the theme of Greenbelts' gala annual Labor Day Festival which gets under way on Friday, August 31, at 6 p.m. The Festival, which will run for four days, was started 19 years ago, to provide a safe and entertaining way for Greenbelters to celebrate the Long Labor Day weekend. Most appropriate is the Festival's theme of involvement, since community-minded Greenbelters plan the entire event, march in the Parade, operate over 40 sale, food, game and literature booths, and participate in most of the stage events, the 15 athletic activities and the cultural programs. Even the tickets for the carnival rides are sold by the Golden Agers.

Parade

The biggest feature of the Festival is the Labor Day Parade, that starts at 10 a.m. on Monday. It will last for over two hours. The parade will be shorter in distance traveled but have more participants than ever before. They will include the winner of the Queen Contest, Miss Greenbelt of 1973 and her Court; the First Army Band from Fort Meade; the University of Maryland Medieval Mercenary Militia, an all Metropolitan High School Marching Band; many other bands, military units, drum and bugle corps; majorettes, decorated floats, Uncle Sam, clowns, antique autos, a children's bicycle and tricycle contingent, many fire truck companies, as well as the word-famous National Beer Shire horses.

Attractions in the carnival area this year include the Ferris Wheel Merry-go-round, Paratrooper, and three kiddie rides.

For things to do and bargains to buy, many people like the large variety of booths and stands on the Midway which have food, soft drinks, beer, games, bingo, used books and magazines, innumerable

Festival Road Runners

This year the traditional long distance foot races will again attract many out of town runners to the Festival, as well as local residents. The main race is the 15 Kilo (9.3 miles), starting and finishing at Braden Field and winding through the Agricultural Farm. Twenty trophies are awarded to the first finishers, plus three in each 10-year age group over 40, to the first three women, and all Greenbelt finishers.

The 2-Mile Run For Your Life race is designed for the jogger and inexperienced runner where time is not important. It starts at Braden Field, goes around the lake and returns. All finishers receive trophies.

Sign-up time for both races is 4 p.m. in the Youth Center on Sunday, the day of the race. An entry fee of one dollar is charged for both races. For further information call Alexander Barnes, 474-5310. The races will be held regardless of the weather. They are sponsored by both the Festival Committee and D. C. Roadrunners Club.

treasures from the White Elephant stand and even a fortune teller.

The 10th annual outdoor Pancake and Sausage breakfast will open on Sunday morning at 9 a.m. It is always a popular feature and will probably be more so this year because prices will not have increased.

Athletic Events

Athletic events include: Sunday afternoon, a D.C. AAU 15 Kilo (9.3 mile) long distance road race for experienced runners and a two mile Run For Your Life race for inexperienced runners and joggers. (All finishers in the two mile will receive trophies and the first 20 finishers in the longer race). Friday p.m. : Ping Pong tournament; Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Tennis tournament; Saturday, horseshoe pitching, swim meet, Karate, football passing, weight-lifting, and archery; Sunday, family swimming relay and golf chipping.

Cultural enthusiasts will like CREATEO-73, an art show which includes paintings, drawings, sculpture, photographs and mixed-media (such as sewing and weaving). On Sunday afternoon there will be a string quartet recital.

Chess buffs will challenge an expert chess player who won 35 of 36 matches last year and drew one. He will play 10 games simultaneously. The chess marathons will take place Saturday and Sunday evenings at 9 p.m.

The Queen Contest at which Miss Greenbelt of 1973 will be chosen will take place each evening, when contestants will be presented to the audience. The Queen and her court will ride in the Parade on Labor Day after being chosen on Sunday evening.

Four bands for street dancing will end each evening's activities. Friday, Sassafras Tea, 4-piece rock band; Saturday, Willie Reed Soul Quintet Plus Three; Sunday, The Swingsters with Sounds of the Fifties; Monday, Music by Quinn, a 5 piece rock band.

A special guest is Edna Hill of Columbia, Md., who was recently crowned Miss Black Teenage America. Miss Hill, who hopes to become a psychologist, is editor of her high school newspaper, president of the Columbia Teen Center, and a member of the school track team.

Opening Ceremony

The opening ceremony of the Festival will begin Friday, August 31, at 7 p.m. and feature the Greenbelt Concert Band under the direction of John Delhomme on stage in the Greenbelt Center Parking Area. Mrs. Edna White will sing the National Anthem, and Emory Harmon will announce the band selections. The Master of Ceremonies will be Pat O'Shea, who will introduce members of the city government and Festival dignitaries. At this time the recipient of the Outstanding Citizenship Award will be announced. Free tickets for 100 carnival rides will be drawn from the stage by the Labor Day Clowns.

See inside pages for Festival program.

Here is a sampling of what Greenbelters will see Monday, Sept. 3 as the Labor Day Festival Parade makes its way along Crescent Road from St. Hugh's School to the reviewing stand at the Center.

Zoning Variance for Private School Wins Council School

by Al Skolnik and Bob McGee

In what was termed one of the finest, most constructive public hearings of recent years, the city council on Tuesday, August 21, reaffirmed its earlier support for a zoning variance to permit the expansion of the Partridgeberry elementary school which rents its quarters from the Jewish Community Center at Ridge and Westway. The council recommended to the county zoning hearing examiner that the variance be granted, provided arrangements were made for the loading and unloading of children on the parking lot at the rear of the building and provided that exit and entry to the school were made through the back or side entrance of the JCC building.

The JCC is seeking a special exception to permit the Partridgeberry school to expand its present maximum enrollment by 12 students and to allow academic instruction above the second grade. Opposition had been expressed because of fears that parking in the area would be adversely affected and that there would be additional inconvenience caused by school traffic. The Greenbelt Homes, Inc. board, having received petitions from opposing members, had also informed the council of its opposition.

Parking No Problem

The hearing brought out that the school would only be operating between 9 and 3 and that the school would not generate need for on-street parking since the parking lot in the rear of the building could easily accommodate the school's staff of four. JCC officials admitted that there were some parking problems in the area arising from other activities at the JCC building and offered to meet with city and GHI officials to work out solutions. It was brought out by one JCC official, for example, that some of the JCC's parking lot was being used illegally by University Square Apartment dwellers.

Traffic Impact

The problem of loading and unloading in front of the building on Ridge was admittedly a cause of irritation and council noted that certain steps could be taken to alleviate this situation. For example, councilman Gil Weidenfeld pointed out that the city had plans to widen Westway and construct a sidewalk and driveway entrance on Westway which would encourage greater use of the rear parking area. He suggested that the city plans be expedited.

Opposition Softens

The opposition to the special exception pretty much petered out, especially after council recommended that conditions be attached to the variance which would alleviate the traffic problem in the area. GHI director Steve Polaschik said that in light of additional information presented, he had changed his mind and no longer opposed the special exception. He explained that the problem had been one where the neighbors had been experiencing previous difficulties with the traffic related to JCC activities, and when the zoning signs were posted on the property, they had visions of these problems being compounded.

Both he and GHI president Jim Smith said they had not been fully aware of the role of the Partridgeberry School and of the general community support for the school. They expressed regret that the GHI board had not obtained all the facts before it acted.

The hearing produced petitions signed by 168 persons expressing support for the school. Many of the speakers at the hearing were GHI members approving the school who expressed dismay that the GHI board would act without first giving public notice to the school or the general GHI membership.

School Objectives

Earlier in the meeting, Morris Lippincott, administrative director of the school, explained the objectives of the school. It is an alternative elementary school to the public system, with an educational style different from any in the surrounding area, having flexible ungraded open-space classrooms, a low pupil/teacher ratio; involvement of parents in administration, policy-formation, and classroom and curriculum design; and schedules built around children's initiatives.

The special exception will enable the school to continue to fill this need as its students grow older, and to provide other families with a small individualistic classroom for their older children. The school presently permits an enrollment of 28 children, and the special exception will increase this figure to 40.

The hearing was presided over by Mayor Pro Tem Charles Schwan in the absence of Mayor Richard Pilski. Schwan described the meeting as "a truly fine example of democracy in action, where citizens could come together without acrimony to mutually solve problems." He noted that while the meeting may not result in perfect solutions, it should result in mitigating most of the problems.

RECYCLING AT THE FESTIVAL. Bring your (washed) bottles and jars to the GEAC booth in the northeast corner of the festival area. No need to remove labels. The city's glass crusher will be on hand to shatter your clear, green or brown bottles. Bring your aluminum cans also (usually you can tell these from the more common "tin" cans: aluminum cans are seamless) as the city now collects these for sale and recycling.

EXCHANGE RECORDS AND TAPES that you don't want anymore. Recycling works this way too. Bring 78's, 33's, 45's, tapes and exchange for other records or tapes of comparable value. The more who bring, the larger will be the selection.

CRAFTS FROM RECYCLED ITEMS. If you make something out of something that used to be something else and want to sell it, bring it by our booth. We can display the item and provide your phone number, or we can take items on consignment.

ALSO we'll have healthy peanuts, raisins and sunflower seeds for sale and a wide variety of information on various ecology concerns. See you at the Festival!

Gourmet String Quartet

Will Play at the Festival

A special feature of this year's Festival will be a 45 minute recital by the "Gourmet String Quartet" on Sunday afternoon at 3:30 p.m. in the Center School auditorium.

The program will include pieces by Hayden and Mozart. The members of the quartet are Jan Turkiewicz, first violin; Irene Wise, second violin; Samuel Gubin, viola; and Virginia Powers, cello. The quartet is a sociable group that has been playing together for about two years, and enjoying the desserts served by Betty Gubin, a talented artist who has painted a picture of the group performing.

Letters to the Editor

"Strange Happening"

Re Mr. Pilski's open letter: It is indeed a "strange happening" when the elected Mayor of Greenbelt deliberately and officially misrepresents the public position of the City Council as well as the majority of Greenbelt's residents.

No resolution was passed by City Council authorizing a letter to NASA requesting that agency's approval of an easement for the sewage pipeline. At all public meetings where this matter has been discussed, the majority of the residents have definitely voiced their opposition to the construction of that sewage plant. In light of the above, there is no way Mr. Pilski could truthfully state that "The majority of our Council are anxious to see the project go forward" and "I have no doubt that this Council majority reflects the attitude of a substantial majority of the citizens of Greenbelt." (bold face mine).

As for Mr. Pilski's mention of this plant's lack of harmful effects, verified by experts, how does he explain the fact that NASA refused the easement because the quality of the effluent to be discharged does not repeat not meet new Maryland or Federal standards? I suggest that as a service to the citizens of this community the News Review publish a copy of that letter from NASA to the City of Greenbelt, citing their reasons for refusing that easement.

I do wholeheartedly agree that Greenbelt would not be where it is today if there had been any "official" opposition voiced by the four member majority of Council. Just what their motives are for supporting Mr. Kay and his sewage plant, in spite of citizen opposition, is an interesting question. Friendship? Politics? Finance? Power?

I suggest to the electorate of this community that they throw the incumbent "non representative" Council out on its collective ear and put in office individuals who will speak for the majority. Hopefully, a really new Council would not be quite so deeply involved with County and State politicians owned by the developers.

Viola L. Keer

Some Approval!

On numerous occasions in your letters to the editor column I have seen charges to the effect that the Schwan-authored resolution of February 1972 dealing with the Greenbelt sewage treatment plant has been interpreted as approval of the plant.

All I can say is that this resolution laid down so many pages of stringent conditions for the plant to meet that here it is 18 months later and the developer is still unable to meet all these conditions. If the developer gets any more "pro-developer" actions like this from council, he will never get his plant approved.

Moreover, if council members Schwan, Weidenfeld, and Maffay were so "pro-developer," how come Alan Kay asked Mayor Pilski and not them to write a letter to NASA on his behalf?

C. S. Brown

Festival Space Display

A spectacular exhibit concerning space travel will be on display in the auditorium of the Center School throughout the Festival, with the assistance of NASA. A sky lab model featuring the space program now in progress plus a space shuttle which is the next NASA program will be on display.

Festival Talent Contest

Anyone intending to enter the Labor Day Festival Talent Contest must so notify Talent Chairman Elizabeth Maffay, 474-6666 by Friday. The Talent Contest will be in two sessions, Saturday at 6:45 and at the same time on Sunday. Cash prizes will be awarded each night. Winners are selected by a panel of three judges.

On the Political Scene . . .

It has been an interesting season for the public: on the national scene there are Watergate, ITT, campaign contributions; on the state scene, political payoffs for contract work. We look for some relief on the local level in Greenbelt's up-coming small-town election.

Unfortunately we have Greenbriar. Four council incumbents have soiled themselves in their extraordinary efforts to please developer Alan Kay. Let's not dismiss Greenbelt as too piddling a place to mention in the same breath as ITT.

Let us consider the implications of the package sewage treatment plant. Locate one in Greenbelt and it becomes easier to locate another and another elsewhere in the county, and then we see that a lot of real estate money rides on the outcome. As a matter of fact, Greenbriar evidently will be the test case for a five-state region, being currently under review by the US Environmental Protection Agency.

Now how does that strike us? Our four incumbents would make Greenbelt the guinea pig, dazzling us with high-powered jargon ("luxury garden apartments") and scare tactics ("who knows what some other developer might build"). They have spread around half-truths like (1) the giant 1,193 unit project would broaden the tax base — true, but also would jack up the price for more schools, traffic controls, fire protection and other public services in excess of the increased revenue; and (2) the sewage plant would discharge effluent of drinking water quality — yes, but that is because USA standards for drinking water still permit viruses, synthetic chemicals and other toxic elements which are known causes of sickness, cancer and gene mutation.

Why have the four incumbents done this to Greenbelt? Is it because they confuse their own personal welfare with that of the city? "Cooperating" with developers is the Prince Georges County way of succeeding in politics, the reward being a boost up the political ladder.

We have plenty of high density development to document past political favors. Need we have a bronze plaque on the outbuildings of a sewage plant to immortalize the incumbents?

We can keep Greenbelt clean by voting in five new council members. And we can start with Tom White.

Leonard Cohen

September Fever?

I must take exception to Richard Pilski's letter in last week's News Review. No, Mr. Pilski, I am not afflicted with a case of political amnesia — I don't engage in such campaign tactics, as I am running for re-election on my record of accomplishments over the past four years.

Regarding the letter you sent to NASA, it's a matter of public record that I stated, "I recall seeing such a letter, but don't remember the circumstances." By your own admission this letter was not brought to the council table for approval and/or open discussion. By your own admission you don't recall the circumstances under which the letter was shown to members of Council.

What compelled you to write such a vindictive "Letter To The Editor"? Could it be a case of September fever?

REMINDER

This is to remind readers of News Review policy with respect to the printing of campaign and election material. The newspaper will not publish in its last edition preceding an election letters to the editor and similar materials that inject for the first time highly controversial issues and charges. Last-minute introduction of such material without an opportunity for refutation is considered an unfair campaign practice.

Letters to the editor and other copy on election issues must be submitted by 9:30 p.m. Tuesday night, so as to give the News Review editorial board sufficient time to review content.

Could Not Afford Risk

It is apparent from recent letters to the editor that my attitude and that of Councilwoman Maffay and Councilman Weidenfeld, toward the Greenbriar temporary sewage treatment plant is being misrepresented.

My attitude, and I am certain that of my colleagues, is exactly that of the official position of the city as expressed in the resolution of March 20, 1972. To quote from it:

"Be it resolved that the city council of Greenbelt request the county council not to approve (the sewage plant) until it has received assurances from all county and State agencies with responsibility in the area that the effluent will not represent a health and ecological risk."

Because it had no power to approve or disapprove the plant, the council, on February 7, 1972, recommended to these decision-making agencies about 25 conditions it felt should be imposed if they saw fit to approve permits for the plant. In that resolution, council included every safeguard suggested by every public official or private person who appeared before it.

I believe we acted in the best interests of Greenbelt. For council not to have acted as it did, i.e. to have urged outright rejection of the plant, meant taking the risk that the plant would be approved without the conditions now required. This risk Greenbelt could not afford to take.

One of the city-recommended conditions accepted by the authorities was that the effluent from the plant be piped to a point of discharge where the stream is free-flowing year-round. It is only because of this condition that NASA is now involved. To reach the stream, the developer has requested NASA to permit him to pipe the effluent across its property.

The city's position has not changed — nor has the attitude of Maffay, Weidenfeld and Schwan. We have been entirely consistent, the latest instance being our reiteration to the county council that the plant be required to effectuate nitrogen removal.

We do not know what motivated Mayor Pilski to join us to vote for the resolutions cited. We do know that he misrepresented to NASA our attitude and the city's position in stating that, "The majority of our Council are anxious to see that the project go forward." NASA has been informed that this letter communicated his personal views, not those of council.

Mayor Pilski has every right to express to anyone his own views. In not labeling the opinions as his own in a letter on city stationery signed by him as Mayor, however, Mr. Pilski made it appear that he was conveying the official position of the city. This he had no right to do.

Council members who voted for the resolutions must be prepared to accept the praise or blame of those who agree or disagree with their actions. They are not required, however, to bear the onus of any action the Mayor took on his own.

Against Liberals

Many of us had the impression that busing was a dead issue, but since the liberal candidates for the city council and school board keep saying that it is, perhaps it justifies close scrutiny.

Those of us who have been actively involved with PTA's, Civic Associations, etc., have seen first hand, how self-righteous and intolerant the pro-busers are when anyone disagrees with their views. Not only are they not interested in the public pulse but they frequently oppose public opinion polls and surveys! And when they do succeed in having their programs imposed, they know they will not fail for if the program is not working, it simply means "we have not tried hard enough"! And sadly enough, we have people on our city council who employ this illogical type of reasoning. This point was really driven home at a recent meeting of the P.G. League of Municipalities when two current members of the Greenbelt city council went on record as favoring racial balance, the only council members in the entire county to do so!

What might happen to Greenbelt if we should permit these liberals to take complete control of our council? How would they approach utilization proposals for our recreational facilities? Would they be thinking of the needs and desires of Greenbelt residents when dealing with low cost housing? How many new programs would they dream up causing our local taxes to sky rocket?

We are most fortunate to have such outstanding citizens as Mayor Dick Pilski, Bill McCarthy and Mike Burchick as candidates. They have been active in Greenbelt affairs and have demonstrated a consistent, even-handed approach to local issues and problems. And even more important, they want to represent rather than rule. To insure representative government for our fine community, let's all carefully evaluate each candidate and vote on September 18.

Faulty Petition?

T. X. White says he felt free to accuse me of deliberately misquoting the anti-sewage plant petition for two reasons: first, I am too intelligent not to check before writing and second, because anyone as knowledgeable as I should have been aware that serious raw sewage overflows occur throughout this area and a good deal of them occur due to faulty treatment plants.

As I said in my last letter I indeed should have checked facts, so I phoned the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission to learn about raw sewage overflows in this area.

Those to whom I spoke categorically deny that the White statement quoted above is true. What has been involved in all overflows that they could remember has been lack of capacity of the pipes that carry sewage, particularly at Blue Plains, Cabin John, and Anacostia. They emphasized that this is NOT the same thing as mechanical breakdown in the treatment plants.

Further, White feels that I am "bent out of shape over the language of a citizen petition." As matters stand now nobody in Greenbelt really knows whether or not most of us feel that Kay ought to have his plant if it meets all legal requirements and the strict standards set by our City Council. Unfortunately this is because the petition said that the plant would "empty treated or raw sewage into Beaverdam" Creek. To say "treated or raw" implies that raw sewage would be a sort of either-or alternative.

I believe the petition could have been worded in a far better way. Katherine Keene

An Outraged Councilman

This city council member is outraged by last week's letter from Mayor Pilski.

Obviously Mayor Pilski realizes that the citizens of Greenbelt are also outraged by his secret letter to NASA dated May 22, 1973, written on behalf of the developers of Greenbriar, stating that Greenbelters are anxious for the Greenbriar apartment project to move forward. He seeks to dilute his culpability by inferring that other members of council were aware of his letter to NASA, and have projected a phony campaign issue. Baloney!

Here are the facts. Several months ago, in the few minutes before the start of a city council meeting, Pilski showed me a personal letter (on plain paper, not city stationery) that he had written to NASA praising the developer of Greenbriar and stating also that the majority of the Greenbelt council and Greenbelt citizens were anxious for the project to go forward. I did not, as Pilski alleges, suggest changes in the wording, but told him that the part referring to the council and citizens was not true and must be removed. Pilski acknowledged my opposition to his letter and proceeded to begin the council meeting. I heard no more about that letter until a copy was presented to Council at a recent meeting on Aug. 13, 1973 by Mrs. Viola Keer.

Since it is normal procedure for Mr. James Giese, the city manager, to inform council members of all communications to other government agencies setting forth city positions, I requested an explanation from Mr. Giese as to why no council member had received a copy of Pilski's letter.

Mr. Giese informed me that the letter in question had not been written by city staff but that at Pilski's request his letter had been typed in the city offices by city staff and that Pilski had taken all copies of the letter with him. Giese said further that several weeks later Pilski returned one copy of the letter to the city file and that the city staff somehow failed to send copies to other members of council.

Another fact is that I am in no way responsible for Pilski's secret letter having been made public at a council meeting by Mrs. Keer. I do not know Mrs. Keer nor have I had any previous contact with her. Actually, Councilwoman Cohen has said that she gave Mrs. Keer a copy of Pilski's letter. Therefore, any inference that I am in any way responsible that this issue has arisen before election time is not supported by any evidence and is false.

I call the Pilski letter to NASA secret because:

1. Pilski wrote the letter to NASA even before they had requested information from the City.

2. Pilski did not adhere to regular city procedure which requires bringing up the matter at a public council meeting for approval by council.

3. Pilski took all copies of his letter, which had been typed by city staff on city stationery, and left no record of it with the city.

4. Pilski has not even alleged that he ever showed the letter to Councilwoman Cohen.

The citizens of Greenbelt deserve to know all of the facts about Pilski's letter to NASA, not a smoke screen of excuses.

I have presented all the facts that relate to me and the Pilski letter. Mayor Pilski should reveal all the facts concerning his actions in this matter and he should respond specifically to the four points I have raised, if he can.

Festival CARES Boutique

A new feature at the Labor Day Festival will be Greenbelt CARES Helping Hand Boutique selling good used clothing and shoes. Everyone with not needed clothing that is clean, mended, and pressed is invited to bring it to the booth any evening during the Festival.

As an added feature, all contributors will receive a receipt for the fair market value of the contribution, and this amount will be deductible for state and federal income taxes.

Library Film for Festival

The Greenbelt Library will present special film showings of The City as its contribution to the annual Labor Day Festival. The film should be of particular interest to Greenbelters since it is a 1939 documentary concerning problems of city planning and desirable conditions of living in small planned suburban communities and includes scenes of Greenbelt.

The film will be shown on Saturday at 10 a.m., 2 p.m. and 4 p.m.

Schools Announce Schedules

Secondary Schools

Parkdale

It will be "business as usual" on September 4 at Parkdale Senior High School, with an expected enrollment of between 2200 to 2300. The school day will run from 8:20 a.m. to 3 p.m. An innovation this year will be the shifting of homeroom classes from the beginning of the school day to the last ten minutes of first period classes. The cafeteria will be open.

School admission and health forms and homeroom and classroom schedules have been mailed to all students. Parents are urged to look over the material and fill out the appropriate forms and make any changes in address, telephone number, etc. so that records will be up to date. Students must bring these forms the first day of school in order to be admitted to classes.

According to school officials the activity bus will resume its operation by the second week of school. G. Allen Sager is Parkdale's principal.

Bus schedules will be the same as last year unless students are notified otherwise, and students should be at their bus stop by 7:35 a.m.

Mary Bethune Junior High

Letters containing bus and other information will be sent to students, according to Thomas Myrick, principal. Unless students receive notice to the contrary, bus schedules will be the same as last year, with students reporting to the bus stops by 7:35 a.m. Dismissal will be at 2:55 p.m.

About 920 students are expected. Eighth and ninth graders are to report to their homerooms, and seventh graders should report to the multi-purpose room. Anyone not receiving a schedule should report to the school library. Students should bring their schedule cards with them.

Greenbelt Jr. High

An estimated 1030 students are expected at Greenbelt Junior High according to William Bevan, principal. School hours are from 8:20 a.m. to 3 p.m. Letters have been sent to families notifying them of the students' homerooms, and students are to report directly to their homerooms. Students who walk are urged not to reach school before 8:15 a.m.

Newcomers to the area may register tomorrow, August 31, when special counselors will be available from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Those who cannot register at this time should report to the multi-purpose room on opening day.

Lunch

A school lunch at senior and junior high schools will cost 55¢ this year. Milk price is 10¢.

PARKDALE NOTICE

Parkdale students should be at the following bus stops on Tuesday, September 4 at 7:35 a.m.: Rear Greenbelt Shopping Center; Springhill Lane, Springhill Lake Recreation Center; Breezewood Drive & Springhill Lane; Crescent & Hillside; Crescent at Greenhill; Charlestowne Apartments on Lakeside; Lastner & Ivy; Laurel Hill & Ridge; Ridge and Research.

Pet Show to Feature "Curious Categories"

A repeat of the Festival's Pet Show will be held on Saturday, September 1, at 10 a.m., on the field between Center School and the Library. Judges will award ribbons to the winners in the following categories:

Most unusual, smallest pet, longest pet, largest pet, longest tail and least mobile.

(Cats) Blackest whitest, most colorful, longest hair and smallest cat.

(Dogs) Closest to the ground, longest ears, shortest hair, and the saddest eyes.

All pets and spectators are welcome.

Animals must be leashed or in a container and must have proof of rabies shot where appropriate. Pet owners under the ages of six must be accompanied by an adult. Pre-registration is required by Fri-

Elementary Schools

The school bells will ring September 4 for all students except kindergartners, who will start on Wednesday, September 5. In order for students to be admitted to grades Kindergarten through Second, they must have an up to date record of all their immunizations. The cost of lunch at all public elementary schools will be fifty cents with the cost of milk being raised to ten cents.

Oakcrest

School hours will be from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Principal Philip Stroup plans to continue with his Career Education curriculum. In addition to woodworking, art and sewing courses will be offered for the first time this year. Agricultural studies will be offered after the fifth and sixth graders build a one hundred foot wall to close off an area for the garden. Bladensburg students will help with this project. A work permit has already been issued by the county.

John Carroll

School hours are 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Principal Gretta Henry is eagerly looking forward to the return of last year's students and welcomes all new incoming pupils, hoping they will have a profitable year. Ms. Henry also urges mothers to come to school and participate in the volunteer program. The school bus schedule pick-up time is 8:55 a.m. (afternoon kindergartners by 12:30 p.m.); return time is about 4:30 p.m. Three buses will stop at two locations, Westway at the bottom of the hill by University Square and Lakecrest Drive at Charlestowne Village. Children from Boxwood should be at their last year's stops.

Center School

Principal Charles Brawn announces that Miss Carol Weiss and Miss Nancy Willette have joined the staff. They will teach in the Special Education program for children with hearing problems. Returning to the school after a year's absence is Mrs. Lee Fink, a reading resource teacher who will be working with individual students and aiding teachers.

Brawn stressed that no permission will be given to children to eat at the Center Mall. He hopes that most, if not all of the children, will eat at the school cafeteria, supervised by Mrs. Katty Boggs.

The school day will run from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

North End

School hours are from 9 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. Principal Helene Poland announces new teachers for the coming year: Mrs. Butkiss, kindergarten; Miss Scott, fourth grade; Mr. Hodges, fifth grade; Miss Feldman, second grade; Mrs. Lovett will be the new resource teacher and Mrs. Wright, librarian. In order to accommodate all the students in the lunch room, there will be three lunch shifts. First and second grade will eat from 11:15 a.m. - 11:45 a.m.; third and fourth 11:55 a.m. - 12:25 p.m.; and fifth and sixth grades, 12:30 p.m. - 1 p.m.

Springhill Lake

School hours will run from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Stanley Klein, the principal, announces that the student council will be expanded this year. Teachers will be using upgraded reading materials in addition to improved math materials. Helping to handle the 700 students will be new classroom teachers, Mrs. Ruth Widmayer, and Mrs. Lilly Gerald, Mrs. Pearl Johnson, reading teacher and Mrs. June Wright, music teacher.

St. Hugh's

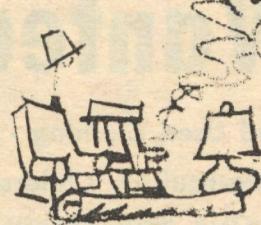

Classes will start at St. Hugh's on Tuesday, September 4 at 8:30 a.m. During the first week of school dismissal will be at noon. An enrollment of approximately 265 pupils is expected.

New teachers this year are Mrs. Margaret Wiegel, first grade; Mrs. Louise Bruneau, fourth; Sister Eileen, sixth; and Mrs. Kendra Hurt and Mr. Bill McLoughlin, physical education. Principal is Sister Anne Frederick and Sister Mary Ellen McGlynn is assistant principal.
